

Manipur to 'deport' those who came after 1961: CM

PTI ■ IMPHAL

A day after Manipur Chief Minister N Biren Singh said those who entered and settled in the state after 1961 would be identified and deported, experts on Tuesday raised doubts over viability of the move.

They said the identification of illegal immigrants was a "welcome step" but their deportation would be difficult unless the foreign countries concerned recognise them as their bona fide citizens.

The northeastern state has been rocked by ethnic strife since May last year, and the government has accused a section of immigrants from neighbouring Myanmar of fomenting trouble.

Speaking at the launch of 'Project Buniyaad' on Monday, the chief minister said, "Those who entered and settled in the state after 1961, irrespective of castes and communities, would be identified and deported."

The chief minister's assertion comes after the Manipur cabinet had, in June 2022, approved a proposal to adopt 1961 as the base year for determining the "native status" of residents of the state for effective implementation of the inner line permit.

"In order to deport illegal immigrants, the foreign country concerned must accept them as their bona fide citizens. If the foreign country does not recognise the immigrants as their citizens, how will they be deported?" Pradip Phanjoubam, a political analyst, told PTI.

Naga leader and Forum for Restoration of Peace convenor Ashang Kashar said deportation cannot be done by the Manipur government alone.

"Identification of immigrants is crucial. Those who would be identified as illegal immigrants should not have the rights enjoyed by the original inhabitants. For instance, they should not have voting rights," Kashar told PTI.

The decision to adopt 1961 as the base year for ILP implementation is a "welcome step towards solving issues confronting the state", Phanjoubam said.

"But many of those are living in the state over several decades. They have become naturalised citizens. In case of deportation, there are legal implications that need to be considered," he said.
